This section was visited on Friday night by a heavy thunder storm, attended with an elegant rain, the latter having been much needed by crops.

A mad dog was kill on the upper end of Hargett street by Mr. William Russ, son of Col. J. P. H. Russ, yesterday. This dog was mad and no mistake.

Gen. G. T. Beauregard telegraphed from New Orleans to a friend in Nashville, Tenn., a day or two ago: "Our carpet baggers must be rooted (bag and baggage) out of the State, or we shall be utterly ruined. The question is narrowing down to one of exisetnce."

The Fourth was generally observed in Raleigh by all the public officials. The stores, however, were kept open, and a heavy business was done in the retail line, the colored element of the surrounding counties having turned out en masse. During the greater part of the day the principal streets of the city were crowded with the blacks.

The County Examiners are now busy daily examining candidates for Teachers of Free Schools. They frequently meet with very hard cases who aspire to "teach the young idea how to shoot" themselves. But they "caught a Tarter" yesterday in the shape of an ebony pedagogue who was under examination. The "boss" of the Examining Board requested a sample chirography and composition, and he immediately wrote out the following sentence: "William Penn was an honest man, and it is a pity you are not one." The Examiner "wilted," but the aspiring pedogogue didn't get a first grade certificate.

VOL. II. RALEIGH, N. C., SUNDAY MORNING, JULY 6, 1873. NO. 113.

THE FIREMEN'S EXCURSION.—In accordance with previous programme, the Raleigh firemen embarked on the Raleigh and Augusta Air Line Railroad Thursday evening for Fayetteville. The Rescue Steam No. 1, Capt. W. C. Stronach, commanding, and Hook & Ladder No. 1, Capt. Lamson commanding, having accepted an invitation from the firemen of that city to join with them in celebrating the nation's anniversary. The two companies numbered about 80 men in the aggregate and a jollier crew of men never got together as were seen on this occasion. The trip to Fayetteville was indeed a pleasant one and but for a sad accident that befell one of the "Rescue" nothing would have occured to mar the enjoyment of the trip to Fayetteville. An artillery squad was formed from the two companies, and a cannon was taken along for the purpose of firing salutes. At every station along the route the roar of artillery announced to the natives that Independence Day was near at hand. The squad under the command of CAPT. John Pugh Haywood, seemed well drilled and particularly careful, but in firing the last gun on the arrival in Fayetteville, a premature fire of the cannon occurred, seriously injuring Mr. James Rideout, of the Rescue, which it is feared will cost him the loss of his sight. Mr. Rideout was in the act of ramming the cartridge in the piece when the gentleman at the vent moved his finger therefrom which caused the fire that resulted as above.

Arriving at Fayetteville, Mr. Rideout was taken to the Hotel and medical aid summoned. He suffered much during the night and was sent home by a special detail of men next morning. We learn with regret that his physicians are of the opinion that his eyesight will be entirely lost.

At the Fayetteville depot the Raleighites were met and formally received by the Fayetteville firemen, who escorted them to the Fayetteville Hotel where the welcoming address was delivered by Maj. —— McCrae, in the usual forcible and graphic style of this gentleman. Mr. Jno. Nichols of this city replied on the part of the Raleigh firemen in a few neat and well timed remarks. Messrs. Clawson and Merrill of Raleigh, and Col. Troy, of Fayetteville, responded to calls from the firemen. After the addresses the firemen were taken charge of by their Fayetteville friends and assigned to quarters at the two hotels.

The morning of the 4th was spent in visiting various points of interest in the "old town," and the evening in parade exercises, all the white firemen of the city, (three companies,) participating. During the parade the "Rescue" gave the citizens a touch of her quality at squirting, dashing up at the Market House, in the centre of the city, which received a thorough cleaning off.

At night the two companies informally organized, and forming a line of march, proceeded to the residences of several of the leading citizens where, with the aid of Rufe Stanley's Oak City Brass Band, serenades were given. This Band, which has already won a reputation far and wide for not only good music, but their general accommodating spirit, overdone themselves on this occasion, and we may safely say they have won a position in the hearts of the firemen that time can never efface.

Col. W. C. Troy being called out, when serenaded, made a handsome speech of a convenient length, which was lustily applauded by his Raleigh friends.

On the morning of the 5th the visiting firemen returned to Raleigh, nothing having occurred to other than pleasant save the unfortunate accident already alluded to by which one of the number was severely hurt.

AN ATROCIOUS OUTRAGE.—Mr. Zirgler, of the Cigar Manufactory of this city, met with the loss of a $6 beaver on his return from the Printers' Pic-nic at Kittrells, on the night of the 4th, and was forced to walk bareheaded in the rain on the arrival of the excursion train to this city on yesterday morning. He was under the "butt" of any quantity of jibs and jests an account of his misfortune, and, we learn, he was called on frequently yesterday for the loan of a chapeu, and several enterprising hatters also presented their business cards. The way of it was this: his hat was borrowed by a kleptomaniacal darkey just as the train moved off at Franklinton depot. Mr. Z. had his head out of the car window when the hat was snatched by the darkey aforesaid.

SAD ACCIDENT.—On the morning of the 4th Theobald Mayer, of this city, a young man about 25 years of age, was drowned in Penny's mill-pond, about five miles southwest of this place.

He was amusing himself, despite the remonstrances of his companions, by paddling about in a small canoe, which striking a snag capsized in water 25 feet deep, and young Mayer, not being able to swim, was drowned. Mayer was a native of Germany and had been in this country hardly two years, most of which time he has spent in this city. He was a relative of the ex-Secretary of State, Dr. H. J. Menninger. At last accounts the body had not been cecovered.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE N. C. R. R.—The annual meeting of this Company will be held at Salisbury on the 10th inst. Mr. W. H. Green, the Master of Transportation, announces that stockholders division if attending, on presentation of thess certificates of stock to conductors, will be passed to and from Salisbury free. Certificates will be recognized from the 9th to the 12th inclusive.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES AT THE LOUISBURG FEMALE COLLEGE.—The Commencement Exercises of the Louisburg Female College will take place on the 9th and 10th instants. Col. W. F. Green, of Franklinton, will deliver the Literary Address on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The concert will take place Thursday evening.

THE EXCURSION TO KITTRELLS—DELIGHTFUL FESTIVAL OCCASION.—At 8 o'clock the members of the Raleigh Typographical Union escorting their ladies and sweethearts, together with invited guests, on the morning of the 4th, took the train at the new Depot for Kittrels Springs in charge of that polite and gentlemanly conductor, Capt. Henry Coley, where they arrived in the course of two hours, and repaired to the Springs and hotel immediately, presenting the appearance truly of a gay assembly of excursionists. After the necessary ablutions, at 12 o'clock, the call was sounded when all were gathered in the ball-room, where, after music from the Italian String Band, Mr. J. Abner Harrell, of the Henderson Tribune, on the part of Mr. Blacknall tendered the party a neat and appropriate welcome, which was properly responded to by Mr. Jo. W. Holden, of this city, on behalf of the fraternity and the ladies who accompanied the party. The band again discoursed the harmony of mellifluous sound, when Mr. Wm. J. Edwards, the chairman of the committee, announced Mr. Needham B. Broughton, of the Spirit of the Age, as the orator for the day, who was welcomed with warm applause.

Mr. Broughton's address was humorous, instructive and eloquent, exhibiting signs of unusual oratorical promise for that gentleman should he persevere, a gift that will place him yet more prominently before the public, and was encored repeatedly. Rev. J. V. McNamara, having been invited to the stand, spoke briefly, when Mr. Z. T. Broughton read letters from ex-Governor Holden, Mr. Crump of Richmond, and Rev. A. W. Mangum of this city, which were handsome in style and warmly applauded.

☞The name of Mr. M. V'B. Gilbert, Esq., President of the Union, was announced, who addressed the audience in a telling manner, eliciting universal attention, and this portion of the festivities was concluded.

Dinner having been prepared, the guests now sought the table and did full justice to an ample repast, taking prominades about the grounds or siestas thereafter, until the bell rang assembly in the ball room, when dancing was kept up till sunset, under the direction of the floor-managers and Mr. Henry Slater.

During the afternoon various members of the craft and friends of the profession contested with a rifle for a cane and two cups, the former being won by Mr. Harrell, the latter by Messrs. Wm. Edwards and Virginius Ballad.

During supper, Mr. Needham Broughton proposed as a toast, the oldest member present, Mr. David C. Dudley, drank rising in tea, coffee and water. Mr. Holden then gave the Committee of Arrangements and Mr. Blacknall, ditto and Mr. Cornelius Edwards, President Gilbert, who responded briefly, proposing the ladies, which ended the supper, and the guests sought the ball-room again, which was a lively scene of gayety until 12 o'clock, the hour of adjournment for Raleigh.

The whole party was soon upon the cars, and reached Raleigh about two a. m., thoroughly pleased with their trip and wishing many returns of the happy day.

AN ANOUNCEMENT.—Mr. George H. Snow announces in another column that he will run as an independent candidate for the House of Representatives, to fill a vacancy occasioned by the resignation of R. C. Badger, Esq., of Wake county.

Commencement Exercises of the University of Virginia.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH.]

[The followingwas delayed in being published in consequence of the suspension for the 4th of July.—ED. NEWS.]

CHARLOTTSVIIE, VA., July 3d.

Dr. J. A. Broadus, of Greenville, S. C., delivered yesterday morning the memorial address before the Alumni of the University in his usual happy manner—his many friends will know what I mean by that.

Senator Thomas Bayard, of Delaware, addressed the Literary Societies. The advice he gave the students was most excellent, and affirmed that the character and stability of the government of the nation depended upon the public virtues of its citizens. He contrasted the purity of the Government established by the fathers of the Republic with the present, and deprecated the land-grabbing proclivities, which it protects and gives encouragement to. He warned the young men against the raging prevalence of vice and the gross materialistic idea which is now rampant in the land, that a spotless character is nothing and money is everything. His address was received with unbounded applause, and his eloquent allusion to Gen. Robt. E. Lee not only brought down the house but made many an eye glisten with tears.

More than two hundred thousand dollars have been given to the University of Virginia since the war by private benefactors. How I do hope and pray that our old Wake Forest College will arise, shake her Mane, and do likewise.

Cuba, by maintaining a successful resistance for nearly five years, had earned recognition of belligerent rights. He hoped that since the government hesitated the people would take up Cuba's cause and force the government to act. A resolution was adopted expressing sympathy with Cuba and calling on the govern to acknowledge the belligerency if, indeed, not the independence of Cuba.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES.

Storms in Indiana and Ohio.

CINCINNATI, July 5.—The storms of the past three days have seldom, if ever, been equalled in severity in Ohio and Indiana. Hurricanes and tornadoes with floods of rain have followed each other in rapid succession. This city and immediate vicinity escaped injury of these storms. The country North of this and parallel in Indiana and Ohio has suffered severely by the furious storms, which passed over it on the 2nd, 3rd and 4th instants. The telegraph wire has been generally prostrated. At Springfield, Ohio, it is reported that the telegraph poles were blown down across the turn pike so thickly in some places as to entirely obstruct travel. East of Springfield on the Pacific and Atlantic telegraph line there were two hundred poles down, some of them struck by lightening, and others prostrated by the wind. Passengers from Logansport say the storm yesterday leveled trees nearly all the way from Logansport to Richmond, Ind. In Richmond trees were blown down in the streets.

At Washington, Ind., the storm was exceedingly furious. Sheaves of wheat were scattered about wildly and carried many feet in the air. At Columbus, Ohio, the storm was very severe and destructive. The general prostration of telegraph poles is without parallel in the history of the telegraph company. An alarmingly large number were shivered to pieces by the lightning, and totally destroyed, while many others were partially destroyed and many prostrated by wind to-day. It will be a busy day in repairing these lines. By to-night they will be ready to tell their own story of the storm.

DAYTON, O., July 5.—A terrific storm of wind and rain passed over this city to-night, blowing down trees and chimneys. In the country the damage to grain, fencing and sheds is said to be extensive. The Miami river is full and still rising.

The Sciota river has overflown the extensive broom-corn fields in the vicinity of Circleville, Ohio, probably ruining from five hundred to one thousand acres of broom corn is flattened down and dirt washed onto it so that much of it cannot be raised. Streams are so high that roads are impassable between Circleville and Columbus. No trains have arrived from the East since Thursday.

F. H. Jackson, a real estate broker, died in his bath tub this morning:

During a heavy shower in Andover yesterday afternoon, the lightning struck the old South Church and stunned Rev. Mr. Abbott, who was delivering an oration, and also Mr. Carter, tenor of the choir. Both recovered in a few minutes. The church was not materially damaged. Several other buildings were also struck. It was the most violent storm experienced here for fifty years.

A New Comet discovered in Europe.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The Smithsonian Institution has just received a telegram, through the cable, announcing the discovery of a comet at Vienna, the position of which is no hours, seven minutes on the right ascension, and four degrees, 34 minutes south of the declination. Its appearance is faint, the motion as yet unknown. This is the first announcement through the cable of an astronomical discovery from Europe, since the completion of the arrangement for the transmission of such intelligence in February, 1873. The discovery of three new planets have been telegraphed from this country since that time.

A dispatch from Hamburg brings intelligence of a riot among the Hindoo peasants in the district of Hoonach. They refuse to pay their rents and have plundered and burned several houses. Two bands have been dispersed by the police.

Flush Times in Kentucky.

CINCINNATI, July 5.—At Owensville, Ky., on Thursday, Wm. G. Satterfield was placed on trial for burning that place in April last. While one Hayden was testifying in regard to being employed by Satterfield to burn the place, Satterfield and his friends rushed towards him with revolvers in hand, when several determined citizens interfered and averted the collision. The court then adjourned till yesterday. Yesterday Satterfield and his friends rode in town with double-barrelled shot guns and revolvers, and were met by Mr. Horn, the jailor, and other citizens. Horn fired at Satterfield, killing him instantly, when the rest of the party fled. Satterfield has been regarded as a dangerous man and desperate character, and his death is not much regretted by law abiding citizens.

From Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 5th.—The weather is clear and beautiful. The meagre reports yet received from various points in the country shows that the storm of the last two days has been of the most severe kind ever experienced here. An immense quantity of water fell and there has been a good deal of damage to telegraph poles and wires by lightning and wind.

There were large gatherings of farmers at Springfield, Galesburg, Pontiac, Champion, Knoxville and other places in Illinois yesterday, who celebrated by listening to speeches upon the farmer's movement and railroad questions.

Several accidents happened here yesterday. The most serious of which was the shooting, and it is thought fatally wounding, of a boy by a young man who was shooting at a mark.

E. H. GREENE, M. D., Physician in Charge

Having arranged with Dr. R. H. Kline Founder and Proprietor of the Philadelphia Bellevue Institute for the establishment of a permanent office at Goldsboro for the cure of CANCER, we take pleasure in informing the Afflicted that we have secured a large, commodious building, and thoroughly furnished it for the especial comfort of our many Patients, coming to us from a distance

Dr. J. E. Bentley, the Surgeon in Charge, late Assistant Physician and Surgeon in the "Philadelphia Bellevue Institute," is a gentleman of high professional attainments, a physician of experience, and well skilled in the treatment of Cancer by our methods.

Dr. Greene has for 3 years had charge of a Branch Office, to Dr. Kline's Institute, at Charlotte, N. C., and his success in the cure of Cancer and other Chronic Diseases has been unprecedented.

Cancers will, as heretofore, be treated mainly with Dr. Kline's great Cancer Antidotes, wonderful in their effect and permanent in their results. The truth will warrant us in saying that more Permanent Cures have been made by them than by any and all other methods combined.

We will take pleasure in sending the names and P. O. addresses of persons cured years ago, and who remain perfectly well up to this time, to any who will apply. Let all the afflicted write for a circular, or come and see us. Consultation free. Professional Fee within the reach of all.

Infirmary on Walnut St., second door east of the new Hotel. Board in the Institute low as the market will permit.

Our Office at Charlotte is in charge of Dr. Lindley, who is treating large numbers at that place. All Chronic Diseases treated with unprecedented success.

A NORTHERN STATESMAN BEFORE A SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY.

We have read with pleasure in the Richmond papers the accounts of the brilliant effort of Senator Bayard, of Delaware, before the two Literary Societies of the University of Virginia. All the correspondents agree that it was a most finished and eloquent production, and its noble sentiments found a hearty response in the hearts of the delighted audience.

The tribute of the distinguished Northern Senator to the character of Robert E. Lee enkindled the highest admiration and was beautiful and apposite.

We have only room for the following brief synopsis furnished to the Richmond Whig:

"The address of the distinguished Delawarean, Senator Bayard, to-night, before the Literary societies was one of the most brilliant efforts ever delivered at this institution. He commenced by giving such advice to the student-hearers as might be expected from such an excellent source. While he deemed the study of the modern languages of the highest importance, owing to our increasing connection with other nations, yet, as long as language is the vehicle of thought between men, so long will the study of the so-called ancient languages be necessary. It is only in the original in fact that we can appreciate the beauties and spirit of the ancient classic writers. The foundation of society is the virtue of individuals, and no nation can be prosperous long whose rulers are corrupt. It is a false idea that we can elevate from the bottom. The top must begin the work. Hence the responsibility which attaches to young gentlemen who enjoy such educational advantages as those who graduate at the University. He enlarged upon truth and personal honor, describing the last named virtue as the most conspicuous of the great, while he deprecated the aggregation of wealth in corporations which he described as soulless and which are fast becoming a power behind the throne, greater than the throne itself. He impressed upon his hearers the importance of industry with a view to the accummulation of money. Poverty he regarded as calamity, because it prevented the generous from aiding their suffering and deserving fellows. When one goes into a workshop he is amazed at the complication of machinery, and yet it all depends upon the simple mechanical forces. So when the student goes into the world's great work-shop he is astounded at the apparent bustle and strife and confusion which he there finds, but then everything there rests upon the great principles of primary truth.

The fathers of the republic were brave, and pure, and frugal, and they established a government suited to a people like themselves, hence, when the rulers become corrupt and the people are demoralized by their example, the government ceases to perform its intended mission.

Here he touched upon the land grants and other Congressional corrupt legislation, and said as he read the reports of investigating committees and the paliation of corrupt practices on the part of legislatures, he felt, as an American, like hanging his head in shame.

In this connection he said that the visitor to St. Peter's at Rome, while awed at its grandeur and magnificence, faltered when he beholds that its dome is strengthened by rude iron braces. He learns, however, that this was caused by a dishonest architect, who, instead of making the walls solid as Angelo intended, constructed them hollow, and though he has been dead for centuries his infamy is perpetuated in this splendid work of art. So the solid walls of government designed by our fathers have become hollow, and rulers who swear to preserve the constitution in its original purity permit it to be violated.

After a glowing tribute to the valor and statesmanship of Virginians and the vast resources of our State, he concluded with the following eloquent allusion to General Lee: "I would not give my dead Ossory for any living son in England," was the proud cry of a bereaved English father. We would not exchange our dead Lee for any living soldier, is the response of every true Virginian. As well could you fetter the sweet wind of the South and bid it in spring-time not awaken to life and joy the bird and floweret of the Northern forest as to exclude the fragrance of the life and character of R. E. Lee from the hearts and minds of men and women of every section of this coutry.

After commending the example of Lee to the young men of the country, he concluded by saying: "And now, even did I wish it otherwise, my address must end. Were I to describe a diligent student and ingenuous youth, you would think of Lee, the cadet at West Point. Did I picture the promise of youth fulfilled, and show you the skillful vigilant and courageous soldier-commander, the gentle and devoted husband, the careful and affectionate father, the constant, generous friend, the upright citizen, the humble Christian, you would think of Lee. And did I describe a great and good man, struggling against adversity and exhibiting all the qualities that adorn and dignify humanity, you still would say I meant none but Lee. Let me leave you with him and bid you now farewell in the words of one who lashed falsehood and meanness with sharp severity, but whose love of all that makes youth lovely and age respected was sincere and constant—

'Who misses or who wins the prize,
Go lose or conquer as you can;
But if you fail or if you rise,
Be each, pray God, a gentleman.'"

There is something in dreams after all. A Western man dreamed that his brother's head was cut off without losing a drop of blood, and the next day he learned that his brother had been removed from a postmastership.

A piece of glass an inch long has been taken from the skull of a Rochester man recently, in whose head it had been imbedded for twenty years. He had complained occasionally of a pane in his head.

St. Louis physicians bitterly deny the existence of Ariatic cholera there.

"GRAPE CULTURE IN NORTH CAROLINA—A NEW AND PROMISING INDUSTRY."

Under the above head the Norfolk Virginian make some comments on extracts taken from the Warrenton Gazette concerning the Ridgeway Vineyard in this State. We are pleased to learn that the prospects of the proprietors of this new enterprise are quite promising. The firm consists of two Frenchmen, Messrs. Clerc and Labiaux, who have practical knowledge on the subject of wine-growing, having had considerable experience in that business in their native land. They have imported a large number vines from France, including many choice varieties, which are thriving very handsomely on Warren soil, and bid fair to make a very prolific yield.

The following is the inreresting article from the Virginian on this subject:

"Among the new industries growing up in the South, that of grape and wine raising promises to attain a large and profitable development. It is a fact well known to our intelligent farmers that immense fortunes have been made by this means as for example, in Cincinnati, and with proper attention on our part we shall be able in many parts of our section to substitute vineyards for crops which are less remunerative. Grapes for market are already raised in this neighborhood, and Mr. McMosey is making a sound and pleasant wine in sight of the spires of Portsmouth.

In North Carolina this art has been practiced for years, and the results promise to make good all that has ever been predicted in favor of this industry.

In order to give our readers some idea of the confidence with which it is prosecuted in Warren county, in our sister State, we copy from the Gazette, the following paragraphs, which cannot fail to be of interest to our numerous readers in the country.

The plants used in Warren, we are told, are all imported from the South of France, and the selection is made from over four hundred varieties. The grapes produced by these are, according to our cotemporary, "vastly finer for the table as well as for wine, and yield far more abundantly than any native grape vine, while they ripen all alike, and require no stake or other support, a very considerable economy. The stem by itself supports all it branches properly.

We have set out this Spring 70,000; next Winter and Spring we will plant over 100,000 vines more.

When one reflects that the Department (we call it a State here) of Herault, where our plants come from, produces alone, a fourth of all the wine in France (and France produces more than five times as much wine as all the rest of the world together) and that our country is as large as Herault one can easily perceive the immense resources we have on hand. There land costs at least twenty-five times more than here; there labor is dearer than here; there they sell their wines at about 12 cents American gold per gallon, and grow rich on it."

This conforms with the experience of a practical vine dresser, the opinion so often advanced in these columns, and we hope to see the grape added to the staples of the South.

We suppose that some will deny that the mass of our people would prefer a sound, cheap wine to malt and spiritous liquors, and if this substitution could be but partially made the profits would be enormous. This is illustrated by the statistics collected by the late Brewers' Convention, which met in Ohio.

According to the report authorized by that body: The number of breweries in the United States for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1872, was 3,041, against 2,900 for the preceding year. The amount of beer and ale made during the year was 8,009,999 barrels against 7,150,740 barrels for the year before. The products of distilleries is estimated at about $39,000,000, and of breweries and malt houses $67,723,158.

The profits from the sources above indicated are sufficient to justify the attempt of introducing cheap wine, and if there is any region on the globe where the grape, in all its varieties, ought to flourish it is on this side of the Potomac, for here soil and climate unite in a promise of success to him who will fill his wine vats in bacchanal profusion with the purple clusters of the King of Fruits."

THE GRANGES IN GEORGIA.

The following from one of our Georgia exchanges indicates that the farmers will endeavor to control legislation in their own interest. But what will answer for Georgia will not answer for North Carolina or other Southern States where the farming interest does not consist of eight-tenths of the voting population.

In Georgia the law is, "no tax receipt, no vote," and this enables the tax-payers to control the elections. But hear our Georgia cotemporary:

"The Granges of Georgia have an eye to future legislation. The farming interest, it seems from an investigation instituted by the Granges, does eight tenths of the voting, and yet gets less than one-tenth of the laws. The other nine-tenths relate to corporations, contracts, the code, etc. The farmers, therefore, feel aggrieved. No doubt the great agricultural interest of the State needs some practical legislation; but it ought to be thankful that the mass of legislation is not directed towards it. As a rule, the less we have of legislative tinkering the better we are off."

Chas. Moreaue, residing near St. Johnstown, Sussex county, Delaware, has two daughters, who are undoubtedly the greatest natural curiosities in the State. The elder is 25 years old, 25 inches high, and weighs 65 pounds. She is perfectly formed, with the exception of her head, which is rather out of proportion in size. The younger is 16 years old, 38 inches high, and weighs 44 pounds. This girl has no bone in one of her legs, and it can be streatched like a piece of India rubber.

Mirabeau's letters to Reybaz, first found at Geneva, make it evident that the former in many instances received speeches ready prepared, which he learned by heart, and delivered with all the fire and passion of improvisation.

The authorities at West Point have entered an interdict against the cadets loaning their sashes and other military adornmets to young ladies, and great is the force of feminine indignation.

Mrs. Ann Mason Bonnycastle, widow of Charles Bonnycastle, late professor of Mathematics, in the University of Virginia, died in Louisville on the 25th of June.

Cora Pearl's permission to return to France is thought in some quarter to foreshadow the ascendency of the Legitimist party.

I have used Dr. Simmons' Liver Regulator in my family for Dyspepsia and Sick Headache, and regard it as an invaluable remedy in these attacks. It has not failed to give relief in any instance.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

BILLOUS.—If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, despondent, have frequent headache, mouth tastes badly in morning, irregular appetite and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver or "Billiousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only a part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy. Sold by all first-class druggists.

How unnecessary the anguish many persons undergo from rheumatism, gout, neuralgia, toothache and earache. We say unnecessary because the application of Mexican Mustang Liniment to the affected part, or a few drops of it in the ears or tooth, affords instantaneous, and what is better, permanent relief. For cuts, wounds, bruises, swellings, and all injuries or diseases which require treatment externally, this liniment is everywhere regarded as the most potent and reliable healing agent in existence. For all external injuries or ailments of horses and cattle, it is infallible.

His Honor, HENRY POTTER, late Judge of the United States Court for the District of North Carolina, gave the following as his opinion of Beckwith's Pills:

"For some ten or twelve years past I have been in the habit of using DR. BECKWITH'S ANTI-DYSPEPTIC PILLS in my family, and consider them so valuable a domestic medicine, that I never suffer my stock to be exhausted. I have used them with good effect in dyspeptic cases, under various modifications, and have found them efficacious in relieving from Sick Headache, and from all the usual symptoms of functional derangement of the viscera. As an apperient, they are excellent. I have long had the pleasure of an intimate acquaintance with the inventor of these Pills. He is a gentleman of talents, integrity and worth, and he ranks high in the science of medicine and the healing art.
H. PORTER."

Prepared by E. R. Beckwith, (successor to Dr. John Beckwith) Proprietor, Petersburg, Va. Sold by Druggist generally at 25 cents per box. Joseph Carr, Wholesale Agent, Petersburg, Va.

Says the Charlotte Observer in its issue of the 3rd instant; We are called upon to lay a sad and heartrending story before our readers this morning. Last evening about 9 o'clock, a terrible and fatal accident occurred at the Central Hotel in this city. Mr. A. Perry Sperry, a gentleman well known in this section of country, who has been traveling for the hardware house of Thomas D. Day & Co., 246 Canal street, New York, arrived in Charlotte yesterday afternoon and took quarters at the Central. After supper he retired to his room which was in the third story of the building, on the east side, and seated himself at the window, probably for the purpose of getting the benefit of the breeze. While seated there he lost his balance and fell to the pavement below. He was immediately taken to his room, when it was found that his left leg was completely shattered, and that he had received painful and dangerous bruises on other portions of his body. Drs. McCombs and Gregory were called to the relief of the unfortunate gentleman, and though every expedient was resorted to to save his life, it was apparent from the first that the hand of death was upon him. Stimulants were administered to him and he lived until half past ten o'clock, when he quietly breathed his last.

A SHADOW ON THE SILL.

The gate is gone and briars grow
Along the unfrequented way
Which leads beneath a bright row
Of aged poplars in decay.

The door, ajar, swings to and fro,
Complaining of the ancient trust,
With latch and staple now forego,
Corroded in their ancient trust.

Those silent walls the secrets keep,
Confided to their faithful ears,
By those whose ashes softly sleep
Beneath the dust of other years!

Of other years, when lithe and young,
And led by wild adventure's touch,
Through shadows, by the woodbine flung,
I passed without that sheltered porch!

Allured by foreign laws and theiems,
Resistless came the wish to roam—
Enchantment filled my youthful themse,
I could not hear the songs of home!

I could not hear the voice of one
Whose hand the last in mine was pressed—
That voice, alas, is lost and gone—
And long that hand has been at rest!

I could not see a form that lay
Upon the threshold I had crossed—
Two shadows passed the sill that day,
And one remained where mine was lost!

Alas! the romance now has fled,
The charms I sought evade me still,
The pathway to that door I tread,
But find that shawow on the sill.

Dooley's Yeast Powder cannot be excelled for making light, sweet Rolls, Biscuits, Waffles, Corn Bread, &c. It is always ready and reliable.

It contains many useful recipes, much valuable statistical matter, and many
